“Hello. Something feels weird.”

“Shadow, we’re going to be releasing you a couple of days early. There’s no good way to say this, so I’ll put it plain. Your wife... She died in the early hours of this morning.”

“So what would I call you, if I was so inclined?”

“Shadow Moon. What might I call you?”

“What’s today?”

“Wednesday.”

“Today’s MY day!”

“I could use a fellow like you. You’re my man now.”

“You know who he is? Who he really is?”

“He does not know our world.”

“I’m easing him in.”

“I think I’m losing my mind. They told me you died.”

“Who said I died papi?”

“Seems you have a choice. Either the world is crazy, or you are. Come with me.”
